FOREWORD

When the first gravestones in this collection were copied, in my ignorance, I thought that all that was needed was to copy the pertinent ones. After a few hundred "pertinent ones", and many trips back to the same cemeteries, I gave up and copied everything.

About twenty years ago, on a business trip with my husband to Biloxi, Mississippi, his company required his presence at morning seminars with the home office people. The company required nothing of the wives except that they be charming and enjoy themselves. When the men came out of the first meeting, one of them said, "I'll go rescue my wife from the pool area before she blisters." Another said, "I'm going to rescue my credit card. It is probably limp by now." They turned to my husband and said, "Where do you think Jessie is?" Without hesitation, he replied, "In the nearest cemetery." And I was ... I had never seen people buried in layers before!

Many interesting living people can be met in cemeteries and much genealogical information can be exchanged. Reading a graveyard can be more engrossing than a book. Love, devotion, heartbreak, neglect and loyalty are there for all to see.

There are as many ways to copy a grave marker as there are burying grounds. Some are overgrown and infestation with chiggers and ticks is assured. Many are carefully maintained and show family devotion through the years. Some are very difficult to find and some land owners are not thrilled by having visitors on their land. Some land owners are thoroughly hostile while others are pleased that you remember their people.

During the various visits, I was escorted by barking dogs who regarded me with unbelief when I spoke "baby talk" to them, a group of about a dozen teen-age boys who interrupted a ball game to show me some hidden graves and a U.S. Army corporal equipped with billy club and sidearms.

Before publishing this book, I had indexed the cemeteries I recorded and found it to be worthwhile because I was able to assist many persons in finding their people. I only wish I had done it much sooner when persons were living because they could have helped me in identifying the many unmarked graves.

This small graveyard located across from 410 has many unmarked graves. When it was copied on 3 November 1967, it was heavily overgrown. When I returned again several months later, it had been nicely cleared and the stones were readable. When I called the site again in 1982, it was partially cleared.

Dryden Cemetery #2 Location

DRYDEN CEMETERY #2

This is a small family burying ground located on a point of land jutting into a creek behind the Daniel W. Dryden farm off Emmaus Road in Poquoson, Virginia. It was copied on 27 January 1974 and was quite overgrown necessitating crawling under bushes and raking pine straw. Miss Evelyn Dryden accompanied me and helped locate the graves. This property is now being considered for a housing development.

EASTERN CEMETERY

This cemetery is maintained by the same group as Weston Cemetery. It is located on East Cemetery Lane off Ridge Road, near the intersection of Messick Road in Poquoson, Virginia. It overlooks the beautiful "Greate Marshe" which goes back to early Poquoson history. These were copied on October 20, 1967.

The photographs of Claudie A. Holloway Sr. and Jr. are those of father and son who drowned in a boating accident in 1965.

There are many unmarked graves. I counted over 27.

FORREST CEMETERY

This family plot is located on Forrest Road in Poquoson, Virginia approximately across from #126. When I copied in April 1966, it was quite overgrown and I was unable to copy all stones. When I returned on February 25, 1974, it was nicely cleared and I was able to add more information. This spring (1993), it is overgrown again.

MOORE CEMETERY #2

This small family cemetery on the right side of Hunt's Neck Road just after passing the intersection with Edwards Road was well kept on 3 Nov 1967 and still is. The arrow in the picture points to a small obelisk. While copying this group, I was approached by a group of teenage boys who were curious about my activity. When I explained, they led me into the thicket behind this cemetery to another not visible from the first. There were several unmarked graves in this second unit.

PHILLIPS CEMETERY #2

A single grave was found near the beach across a gulley from 152 Beach Road and copied 5 Mar 1968. When I returned in May 1993, it was so overgrown with briars I could not find the stone if it still exists.

In March 1968 when I paced carefully through the bushes and briars, putting my feet carefully to mash them down so I could approach the stone, as I placed my footfall very carefully, I startled a rabbit who jumped as high as I did. He got away rapidly but when I came down, I was wrapped thoroughly from toe to waist with those tenacious briars. It took quite a while to free myself and I was left with many scratches on my legs.

PHILLIPS CEMETERY #3

A single grave in the orchard behind 99 Hunt's Neck Road was copied on 5 Mar 1968. I was led to the site by Alfred Hunt who said that there were several unmarked graves but he did not know who they were. He wanted this documented because he believed this one would be destroyed by future developers and it has been.

ROBERTSON CEMETERY

This family plot is located on the bank of Topping Creek where the canal has been dug for developing Cedar Landing Estates in Poquoson, Virginia. It is at the end of Heron Court which is off Layden Way. It was originally copied in March of 1966 and I have visited it many times since. Vandals and time have done quite a bit of damage.

This was in the yard of abandoned "Johnson" house at the water's edge off Ren's Road near Whitehouse Cove, across Ren's Road from the large development. It must be reached by driving on the Wilson lane. The Wilson family states that the last person buried here was "Pony" Hopson.

Large headstone face down and semi-buried. Unable to dig up. Footstone shows "M.B.H."

SMITH CEMETERY #1

Only four graves are visible in the wooded area across from 257 Wythe Creek Road in Poquoson, Virginia. Mr. Vincent Watkins gave me this information. Since then, it has been monitored by members of the Poquoson Historical Commission and found in good condition.

SMITH CEMETERY #2

This private cemetery was copied on 4 Mar 1966. It is behind 338 Wythe Creek Road in Poquoson and must be reached by Brickhouse Road. It is on one of the earliest land grants in the area and a memorial service is held there each year in May. It is always immaculate. A notable feature not found elsewhere in the area is the "mound" containing the remains of several individuals. It was redone recently keeping to the original pattern. On the evidence found, it appears that six individuals are interred. Walter Martin is listed on the plaque and his wife, Uphany (Linton) Martin is buried in Weston Cemetery beside her sister. She died in 1887.

TABERNACLE UNITED METHODIST CHURCHYARD

This is the oldest Methodist church in York County, located at 831 Poquoson Avenue in Poquoson, Virginia. It was established in 1817, but this building is about the fifth in its history. It was copied when the beautiful old white wooden church was still standing in April 1966. The bell in the photograph came from that building's bell tower and stands on its approximate location. The angel tombstone is the product of a Poquoson artisan, Arthur Watkins.

Beginning at the right side of the entrance to the wooden structure:

TENNIS CEMETERY

On the 1937 WPA survey this name is shown as "Teuvis". It is located on private property off Pasture Road and the owner does not encourage visitors. Too many stones have disappeared. In April 1993, I was able to photograph three stones, all apparently field rocks which had been inscribed. One is clearly Frances Tenniss who was born Jary 26 1768 & Dye Deber 7 1836 Age 68 yr. 10 mo. 17 da. The present owner is very much interested in preserving these stones.

Age 68 yr. 10 mo. 17 da.

NOTE: Frances' maiden name was DIXON. Her birth is recorded in Charles Parish register.

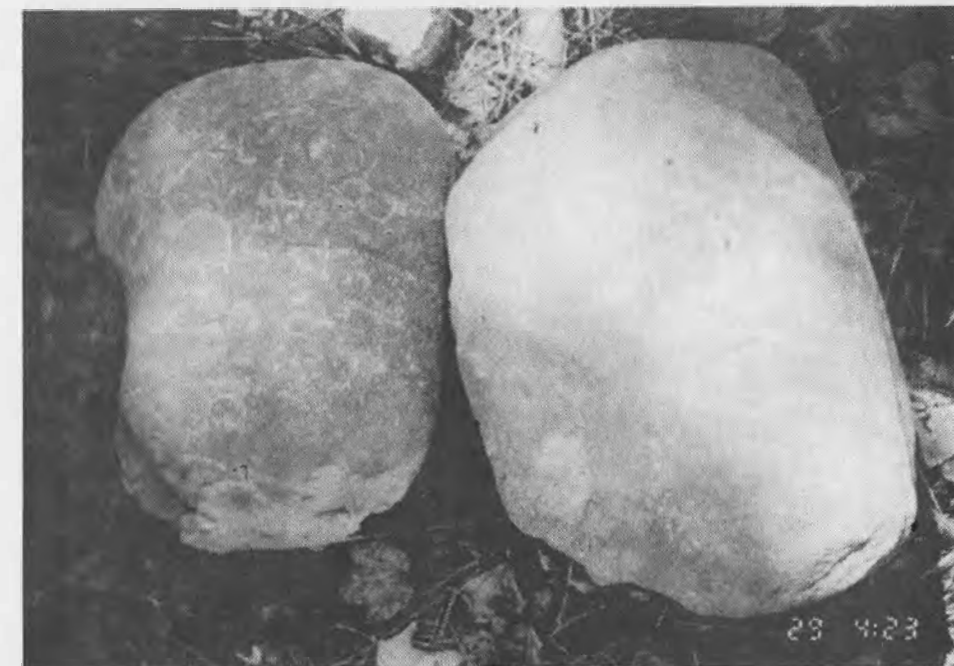

TOPPING CEMETERY

This cemetery is located in the back yard of Clarence Johnson's home at 85 Bunting Lane, Poquoson, Virginia. Legend says that dozens of people are buried here, but only the following stones survive. It was copied in May 1965. The stones have been placed flat on the ground for convenient trimming. When I returned on 21 Mar 1993, I was unable to secure a good picture of any of them. They are quite deteriorated.

TRINITY UNITED METHODIST CHURCHYARD

This church was organized in 1882 and has always existed in its present location at the corner of Church Road and Poquoson Avenue in Poquoson, Virginia. When the Church Road educational building was planned in the early 1930's, families with persons buried in the churchyard area that would be covered by the new building, had the option of removal to Weston or Eastern Cemeteries. Those who remained in their original space had their names inscribed on a plaque to be hung in the church hallway.

In the drawing, the grave to the right of the bell tower is that of Derusha E. Quinne shown in the photograph.

These were copied in March 1966. There have been no burials since.

WAINWRIGHT CEMETERY

This small family plot located at approximately 650 Poquoson Avenue in Poquoson, Virginia was well maintained when I copied it on 7 Nov 1970. When I returned this year (1993), it was rather overgrown and I did take a picture.

WESTON CEMETERY

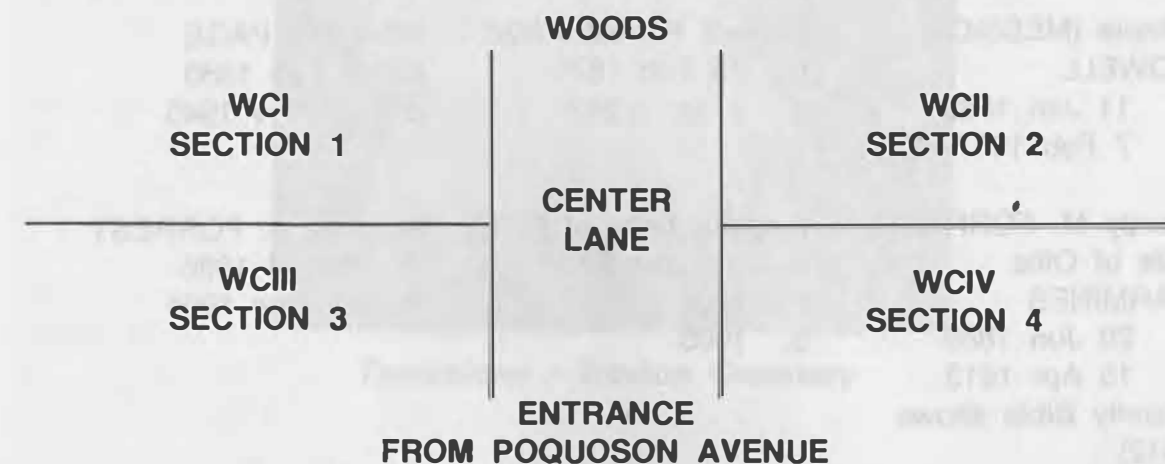

This large community cemetery is supported primarily by the membership of Trinity United Methodist Church, 1294 Poquoson Avenue, in Poquoson, Virginia. Usually called "Western" by old-timers, the correct designation is "Weston" since William Weston, whose land bordered the graveyard, sold property to the trustees with the stipulation that it be henceforth called "Weston", to which the trustees agreed. The cemetery itself is located on the right-hand side of Poquoson Avenue in the 1400 block. The general area of this graveyard is indicated as "the family burying ground" in the will of a Parsons family member. An old round field stone which has now disappeared carried the inscription: "M. P. 1798". It is believed that this was the marker for Martha Holloway Parsons. In copying, I started with area No. 1 (WC1) at the center land and worked southward to the fence (now gone). I then stepped forward and copied the line back to the center lane. This helped me locate an individual grave when needed later.

These names were copied in 1967 with a few added since.

For convenience, this cemetery is divided into four sections as follows:

- No. 1 (WC1) - the "old" part beginning with Wilbur M. Forrest on the left side of the center land through the cemetery.
- No. 2 (WC2) - begins opposite Wilbur M. Forrest on the right side of the lane. This is the oldest section of all.
- No. 3 (WC3) - Private plots between Section 1 and the street.
- No. 4 (WC4) - Graves between No. 1 and the street including both private plots and general burial areas.

Rough map below will indicate further the above explanation:

SECTION ONE - Beginning at the edge of the old section next to the "Forrest" private plot.

Whitehouse Drive Cemetery Location

WHITE CEMETERY

This marker was rescued from the Westover Shores development when it was found on a hedgerow. When I copied it, it was in the hands of the rescuer who did not wish to be identified. That was 31 January 1974. He since has indicated that it would be passed on to Tennis family members in Hampton for placement in St. John's Churchyard.

HARRIS CREEK CEMETERY

This is located in Hampton, Virginia, on the Cosby property. It is on the right side of Harris Creek Road and on the left side of the Cosby lane. It was copied 14 November 1970. It was covered with vines, briars, etc. and a tree uprooted a stone. I revisited it in 1988 and it was greatly changed since houses had been built on the property. A few stones were still visible. The reason it is included here is that these people were "move-ins" to Poquoson from Maryland. They lived at Messick Point in Poquoson and were carried across Back River for burial. I still hope someone can tell me why.

RUSSELL CEMETERY

I never saw this cemetery. This information was copied from the WPA workers survey in 1937. I have been unable to find it after several attempts.

Russell Graveyard - 1.6 miles north of Harpersville, Virginia (Now Newport News, Virginia) on route 515, thence 0.2 miles on west of highway in the woods.

1851 oldest grave . . .

The Russell Graveyard lies in a beautiful grove of ancient walnut trees. It is grown up in grass and underbrush. The graves are very hard to find. There are several small cedar markers which have almost rotted away. Some of the graves are not marked at all. There are two large flat slabs which were cracked, but which have been remodeled recently.

Few men have lived and died more beloved and respected. The nobleness and generosity of his nature, the purity and elevation of his character, the warmth and disinterestedness of his friendships were accepted and admired by all who knew him. His friends were numerous and devoted, two of whom have caused this monument to be erected in testimony of their regard and in commemoration of the virtues which adorned his life.

BIG BETHEL RESERVOIR CEMETERY

This is located on Big Bethel Road in Tabb, York County, Virginia, near the bridge between the two lakes. It was copied 25 Oct 1973 and is usually well kept. It was not easy to gain access. We went to several locations to secure the key to the gate and having no luck, returned to the cemetery and I crawled under the gate.

SEAFORD CEMETERIES

CROCKETT CEMETERY

This small family graveyard is on Crockett Road, Seaford, York County, Virginia. I copied it on 21 Oct 1973. It was in very poor condition and it appeared that the spoils from dredging or digging a canal for a housing development had been dumped on it. There was a narrow dry ditch separating it from the road. When I returned in April 1993, that narrow ditch had widened to a six-foot tidal ditch (high tide) which I did not attempt to cross. I could see nothing of the stones from the road.

There was nothing to view but Mrs. J. W. Ironmonger told me that the IRONMONGER Family Cemetery had been located on what is now Shirley Road, near the end on a sharp curve. A road now runs through its location.

Mrs. George Morse told me that there was a SHIELDS Cemetery on Dandy Road which was moved to Zion Methodist Churchyard when the Amoco refinery located there. I hope someone will copy the entire Zion Churchyard for a future York County cemetery book!

Mrs. Morse also said that the HOGGE Cemetery on Wormsley Creek Road had been obliterated by builders. She was not aware of any removal of remains or stones.

DANDY LOOP ROAD

This was in the Goodwyn's Neck section of York County, Virginia. It is no longer visible since the road went through this extensive graveyard. Mrs. Thelma Hansford supplied me with the information.

"Here lyeth Lady Rachel

OLD BETHEL BAPTIST CEMETERY

These graves are located on the glebe land for Charles River Parish which was once a colonial church. The foundation and a marker show the location of the early church. When I copied in 1967, it was owned by Bethel Baptist Church. That church has now moved across Yorktown Road and their building has passed to several hands since then. It is in the Tabb area of York County. There are several enclosures to this group of burials. Some are widely separated from the others. The two Carmines/Carmininds graves lie beside the Taylor farm lane.

OLD MAGURDER CHURCHYARD IN CAMP PEARY

When I attempted to enter Camp Peary, I was brusquely turned away. My brother had his Navy boot camp training there and at that time I did not know that the C.I.A. called it "the farm". Impossible was not in my vocabulary, so I wrote to my congressmen with a copy to the camp commandant. Before I heard from my congressmen, I received a call from the people at Camp Peary asking what day would be convenient for my visit! When I arrived, I was told to wait IN MY CAR at the gate. Shortly afterward, a jeep arrived with an NCO-MP complete with "billy club" and sidearms and helmet. I was impressed. He got in my car and we drove to the old Magruder churchyard. He was a delightful young man and helped me clear off the stones for copying. I don't have the nerve now twenty years later to suggest that I might take pictures. I was braver on 4 August 1970 when I persisted.
